Subject: Welcome from the Senior Vice President for Research and Innovation

THE UNIVERSITY OF ARIZONA

Dear New Faculty,

Senior Vice President for Research and Innovation Elizabeth "Betsy" Cantwell welcomes new University of Arizona faculty to the community. As part of the university's mission, the research and innovation that comes out of the institution is embedded in the region, town and state to benefit Arizonans and beyond.

More than a top R1 Doctoral University, the University of Arizona supports student and faculty success. Despite the current COVID-19 pandemic, research has and continues to move forward at the university. The Office of Research, Innovation and Impact is here to assist faculty in their research, from bringing groups of researchers together to ideate, to focusing on solving specific complex problems such as the 300 interdisciplinary researchers currently working on COVID-19 related research proposals, and assisting in the writing and project management of grants and awarded projects.

The mantra of Research, Innovation and Impact is "service." Learn more about the resources available to faculty at the Research Gateway <https://rgw.arizona.edu/>. Be pending of our next e-mail featuring Dr. Andrea Romero, Vice Provost for Faculty Affairs.

Stay safe and Bear Down,

Office of the Vice Provost for Faculty Affairs
